

Alphonse Mucha: In Quest of Beauty

16 June – 29 October 2017

Alphonse Mucha (1860–1939) was one of the most renowned and influential artists of the Art Nouveau movement. This major touring exhibition from the Mucha Foundation explores the Czech-born artist's work around the theme of beauty – the core principle underlying his artistic approach.

Showing around 100 works primarily drawn from the Mucha Trust collection, the exhibition includes drawings, paintings, photographs and some of the artist's celebrated poster designs for the actress Sarah Bernhardt, synonymous with the Art Nouveau style of the late 19th century.

Tickets

Tickets for Alphonse Mucha: In Quest of Beauty are available to purchase from Monday 13 March 2017, priced at £7 for adults and £5 for concessions.

The exhibition is free to anyone aged 18 and under and discounted tickets are available for existing members of National Museums Liverpool and other selected groups.
